Foreword

"PLAYING THE GAME" has been chosen as the theme of the 1940 Handlian. Since the very wording of this theme has come from the activities of the athletic field, we have chosen school athletics to illustrate this volume. In so doing we hope to present a well rounded picture of school life showing students as they play the game, whether it be on the football field or in the chemistry laboratory. It is from such varied activities that the reader may best learn of the fine spirit and good sportsmanship which prevail at Handley.

Dedication

VIRGINIA BOYD BARR

Since we have chosen "playing the game" as the theme for this book, we deem it appropriate to make the dedication to Mrs. Barr, who has done so much to advance the spirit of fair play and cooperation among the students of Handley. As director of girls' physical education, she has shown that playing the game in the fullest sense is more than merely scoring points. The Booster Club, the Junior Evening Star, the cheer leaders, and the Apple Blossom pageant are some of the varied activities which Mrs. Barr has fostered untiringly. As a mark of our fond appreciation of one who has helped us at Handley to play the game well, we dedicate this nineteenth volume of The Handlian to Virginia Boyd Barr.

Principal

Watching the daily football practice, is Mr. Quarles whose constant interest in the progress of the team and whose friendship for the individual players have endeared him to Handley students. A referee who is forceful, friendly, and fair keeps the game running smoothly, and inspires the players to do their best. In the same way Mr. Quarles, our superintendent, has helped and encouraged us in our playing of the game at Handley.

SENIOR CLASS SPONSORS

We feel that we have been most fortunate in having such able sponsors. In all our undertakings we have had the comfortable feeling that they were behind us with their indispensable encouragement.

We wish to thank Miss Larrick for her active support of all our class activities, but particularly for her hard work and patience in the publishing of this annual.

To Mr. Browning we are deeply grateful for his able direction of our senior play and for his willing participation in the other class undertakings.

Every senior feels indebted to Mr. Legge for his strenuous efforts in making our social events successful and his supervision of the commencement exercises.

CLASS POEM

To take our falls
With ever lifted eyes;
To take success
With ever humble heart—
Be this our simple prayer.

To prove our worth
With eager minds set free,
To prove ideals
With souls so strong in Thee—
Shall be our simple prayer.

To seek to live
With ever steadfast faith,
Through rainy nights
Or radiant, sun-kissed days—
Is just our simple prayer.

Yet—most we wish
To hold within our hearts
Your light through years,
Oh—Handley High! May this
Our simple prayer be.

CLASS HISTORY

IN the fall of 1928 we began our "game" that has lasted over a period of twelve years. The line of scrimmage was John Kerr School. Our officials those first three years were sweet, gentle ladies who taught us our A.B.C.'s. After the first three years we took time out and moved to Handley where we spent three more years in the territory of the "dear old elementary corridors".

The first quarter completed, we took a short rest. In the second quarter we gained a little territory and moved up into Junior High School. As the going was a "little tough" we remained here until the end of the half.

At the beginning of the second half many new players came into the game, and as we fought on through the struggle, we realized we couldn't have done without them. Being mere freshmen we didn't receive much attention from the sidelines until near the end of the third quarter, when we moved up into territory known as the Junior Class. Here two spectacular "plays" were made and gained us a lot of ground. The first one was a play called "Junior's Mustache", and the last and outstanding one of that quarter was called Junior-Senior Prom.

The last quarter, the one where we had to struggle hardest, finally came. Here our coaches, Mr. Legge, Miss Larrick, and Mr. Browning, stressed points of fair play and hard work and told us to go in there and win! All through this struggle we knew they were beside us. Finally in the last few minutes of the game the whole team came through with a play known as "Diploma", and we were over the goal! The game was ours!

UNDERGRADUATES

Meet the squad—the undergraduates. These reserves are always ready to back up the first team. They are the younger players at Handley. Some at the marble ring now will soon be sitting on the bench, waiting to go on the field, and eager to make the varsity.

CLASSES

In school as in life, work comes before play; hence our athletes must successfully make their way through the day's classes before they are allowed to enjoy themselves in the various sports which come at the end of the school day. Therefore, in these few pages we will endeavor to show you a little of the scholastic side of the athletes' day.

ENGLISH

ACADEMIC COURSE

The Academic can truly be called the brain-tester course. Its purpose is to prepare students for college. Listed in this group are such subjects as English, Latin, French, and mathematics.

As head of our English department we have the Parnassus-bound Mr. Browning. We try to justify his faith in us by turning in wonderful poems written occasionally in iambic pentameter verse.

How bravely we struggle through Caesar's Gallic Wars, trying desperately to find a meaning for "Veni, vidi, vici." With the help of Mrs. Peery, Latin becomes a really enjoyable subject.

In French the slogan is, "Je vous aime, je vous adore," which may or may not prove Miss Laughton's saying, "If it isn't clear, it isn't French."

A person is not in the math department long before he finds out that the shortest distance between two points is a straight line. Trig formulas, algebra problems, geometry theorems! But as Mrs. Solenberger says, "Just think what fine, clear-thinking minds you'll have when it's all over."

GENERAL COURSE

Betwixt and between is the General Course. Not entirely academic nor wholly vocational, its requirements form a well-balanced course of study. English, history, mathematics, and science are required of everyone. In his electives a student must concentrate in a specific field such as vocational agriculture, industrial arts, and home economics.

When horrible odors penetrate the building, gasping students know the science department has outdone itself again. Biology, physics, and chemistry are classes for students in the General as well as the Academic Course. In these Mr. Hale holds forth in his high chair brandishing his yardstick. Heaven pity the poor soul who asked, "Mr. Hale, how do you spell hydraulic acid?"

In home economics classes students learn to arrange and cook a balanced menu on a balanced budget under Mrs. Hale's direction. The dining room is the scene of many a model meal where luscious hot rolls prove the excellence of the cooks. An occasional exhibit of suits, dresses, and smocks—to say nothing of Apple Blossom costumes—proves the worth of the sewing classes.

To quote Mr. Joyce, "So much for that!"

TYPING

COMMERCIAL COURSE

"A, S, G, F—Semi, L, K, J," calls Miss Martin over and over as timid typists blindly feel their way across the keyboard in their first lesson. These students are doing their initial assignment in the Commercial Course. Later on they will accomplish mile a minute speeds with no erasures. "It's all in the rhythm," says Miss Martin as she turns the one victrola record for the hundredth time. And the typists march along the keyboard to the accompaniment of Sousa's band!

There are really two Commercial Courses—the Stenographic and the General Commercial. The Stenographic Course is for the students who intend to become stenographers. In the required two years of shorthand and stenographic practice these future secretaries puzzle over strange signs and curliques, trying to imitate and transcribe them. "Miss Saulsbury, how can you tell whether this thing means 'rate' or 'rat'?" said one in desperation.

The General Commercial Course is for those intending to go into business but who do not wish to take shorthand. Business arithmetic, typing, office practice, and bookkeeping distinguish the commercial department. Typing to music and keeping books, under a glamorous blonde have their advantages.

VOCATIONAL CLASSES

Education has come a long way since our great-grandmothers sat in a one room school wrinkling their foreheads over readin' and 'ritin' and 'rithmetic. Today our spacious building includes a machine shop, an art studio, and an agriculture department where students may take vocational work.

The whole school has enjoyed exhibits of the advanced art class under Miss Pannill. We look with wonder at the paper sculptures, water colors, costume designs, and cartoons.

An industrial and academic purpose lies back of the classes in woodwork. To learn to build with tools adds to any student's education; and to take the wit and sarcasm of the master builder, Mr. Yates ,adds to a student's pleasure.

If it is true that the farmer is the backbone of the nation, then we are strengthening national affairs in our classes in agriculture and orcharding. Under the instruction of Mr. Legge the students keep our campus in excellent condition and beautify our grounds. These are truly the Future Farmers of America.

WOODWORK

ACTIVITIES

A thunderous roar rises from the sidelines as the cheering section swings into action. Just as the support of the students is vital to a winning game so the extra-curricular activities at Handley are vital to the life of the school. They are a part of the game and add to the student's enjoyment of life at Handley.

ACTIVITIES

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

The Executive Council is the governing body of the school. Regular meetings are held on the first and third Wednesdays of each month.

It has been the aim of the council this year to take over as many new responsibilities as possible, in order that the school may be governed more by the students.

HONOR COURT

The main duty of the Honor Court is to foster honesty among the student body through the use of the Honor Pledge, and to determine the constitutionality of laws or regulations for the Executive Council. It is composed of nine members appointed by the principal of the school and approved by the Executive Council.

MONITOR AND CORRIDOR COMMISSIONS

The Monitor and Corridor Commissions, run entirely by students and sponsored by the Executive Council, regulate the congestion and conduct in the halls at lunch and between classes.

Approximately 125 students serve as monitors each semester.

The Junior Evening Star

Published by the Booster Club Every Tuesday Night

Booster Club

Each September the ten remaining Senior girls in the Booster Club choose ten girls for new members. An initiation follows and the ten reliable, active, all-around girls become Boosters and are able to wear the maroon "B" symbolizing the club. Members of the club in the picture at the right are: Front row: Dorothy Hawthorne, Jean Forney, Farley Massey — President, Marion Hurst, Jean Hamman. Second row: Jean Ebert, Dorothy Moore, Dorothy Robinson, Colleen Clowser. Third row: Margaret Dick, Edith Dunn, Frances Bickers, Emily Grove. Back row: Mrs. Barr—Sponsor, Jacqueline Womack, Natalie Browne, Carol Lindstrom. The four new members, not in the picture are: Ann Light, Catherine Beattie, Allison Burgess, and Jacquelyn English.

Boosts Activities In Many Ways

Fall finds the Boosters conducting a second hand book store where students are able to buy and sell used books.

The cheering section at the games owes much to the Booster Club which arranges the election of cheer leaders, selects new cheers, sells megaphones to the rooters, and distributes printed programs giving the line-up for each team.

The club has tried to accomplish many small improvements about the school. Already plans are being made for next year and suggestions are coming in for further activity.

Plans For The Future

The Booster Club has always tried to make little improvements around the school, but the plans for the future are bigger and better than ever before. For example, next year they will probably be found running a lost and found department. This year they partially eliminated study halls in the auditorium, but they hope to eliminate them entirely another year. Next September they hope to erect a scoreboard for the football field, and the idea has been advanced that alphabetical letters be painted beside each row of seats in the auditorium.

High Scholarship

The Booster Club, sponsored by Mrs. Barr, has been active since 1933. The original plan was to make it an Honor Society, with no average lower than "B". Although this plan was not adopted, the Booster Club members have maintained a high scholastic standard.

Edits "Junior Evening Star"

At the weekly meetings, each member is given a specific assignment for the Junior Evening Star which is published every Tuesday in the Winchester Evening Star. News of clubs, teams, play, and people make this a popular publication. Each month a new editor is appointed from the Booster Club.

In addition to the weekly editorial, which is illustrated by the central cartoon, several columns have become regular features. "The Inquiring Reporter" brings forth student opinion on popular questions, while "Snooper Scoop" hints at the latest gab and gossip. The unforgettable past is recalled by "Remember When?" and "From Our Files".

Did You Know

—that the Booster Club has been organized since 1933?

—that there cannot be more than twenty members in the club at one time?

—that the articles in the Junior Evening Star are written entirely by Boosters?

—that six of the eight girls in the year's "Who's Who" are in the Booster Club?

—that seven Boosters are in the Monogram Club?

—that seven other girls hold offices in school organizations?

—that eleven Boosters take the academic course?

—that four senior Boosters were eligible to try for valedictorian of their class?

—that three of the commencement officers are Boosters?

—that one Booster sold almost 1/3 of the 1940 Handlians?

The Typical Booster

—wears skirts and sweaters with long sleeves pushed above the elbow.

—wears brown and white saddle shoes with colored socks.

—wears a coquettish bow in her hair.

—has a long bob.

—was in at least two dances of the pageant.

—takes an active part in at least one other school organization.

—is a member of the General Organization.

1939 LANGUAGE TEAMS

THE LANGUAGE TOURNAMENTS

Latin and French tournaments are conducted for high school students throughout the state each spring. In 1939, preliminary competitive examinations were held at Madison College, Harrisonburg. Tournament exams are made up by Latin and French professors from various colleges. They are compiled to test accurately the student's knowledge of forms and vocabulary and his ability to translate comprehensive passages in Latin or French.

These exams are graded by their authors, and the results are compared. Awards are made to the students who have the highest scores. To the school with the highest average goes a plaque recording its championship.

"THERE'S MUSIC IN THE AIR..."

And if there is, you can be sure it is either the Glee Club or the A Capella Choir under Miss Haynes' direction. These two organizations have delighted school and community audiences on frequent occasions when their singing has been enthusiastically received.

With seventy-three members, the Glee Club meets as a regular class receiving the usual credit toward graduation. In addition to frequent appearances on assembly programs, the Glee Club sings with the elementary chorus in the annual Christmas Carol Service, provides the Apple Blossom chorus for the festival pageant, and sings at commencement exercises.

An interesting outgrowth of the Glee Club is the A Capella Choir, a chorus of twenty-two of the best voices specializing in the higher type of sacred and secular music. The A Capella Choir provides entertainment for school and civic organizations.

THE ORCHESTRA

Under Professor McIlwee's direction the orchestra of sixteen members has added greatly to school and community enjoyment. At the Rouss banquet, at plays, and school gatherings these musicians have been received with great applause.

CHRISTMAS CAROL SERVICE

On Sunday, December 17, 1939, the Handley auditorium was packed with an appreciative audience which came to enjoy the annual Christmas Carol Service. Under the direction of Miss Haynes the choir of approximately 500 elementary and high school students sang many of the earliest Christmas carols.

HANDLEY HIGH SCHOOL
BAND
WINCHESTER, VA

THE HANDLEY BAND

This organization at present consists of twenty-one members who, in the eyes of our director, Mr. McIlwee, can play their part and justly occupy the position they hold in the band. When it is called upon, the band is ready and willing to serve both the school and the city with martial and semi-classical music, as it has demonstrated by playing for football games, pep rallies, civic memorials, the Apple Blossom festival, and many other occasions.

Last year the plan was adopted of awarding deserving members of the organization with monograms. These are distributed by Mr. McIlwee to Seniors who have maintained a B average on music while in the band and can, if called upon, hold down the first chair in the average college band.

THE MAROON AND WHITE QUILL

The unexpected has happened! A literary magazine has actually become established at Handley. And the credit must go to the Junior High School whose students have done all the writing, editing, drawing, painting, and advertising for The Maroon and White Quill. This magazine has made its appearance on the first Friday of each month under the entire sponsorship of the seventh and eighth grade English classes. After being carefully edited the material is mimeographed by advanced typing students. The art editors have provided colorful illustrations by drawing on the stencils and mimeographing them with the typed material. The art classes have painted these drawings. One of the best issues of The Maroon and White Quill was the Christmas number. Running a close second was the Pinocchio number which appeared in January.

It is planned that ninth and tenth grade students may contribute to and become members of the Quill staff next year.

ATHLETICS

Athletics aid in developing the physical strength and skill of the players whether they are throwing the discus or playing football. However, mere brawn does not make the team. A successful player must first learn cooperation, fair play, and sportsmanship. These qualities will always help him to play the game in the fullest sense.

FOOTBALL'S HALL OF FAME

CARROLL ROWE was our very able team captain. He was always right in there to stop the opposing team from breaking through his end of the line. He was considered so valuable that he made the all C. V. A. L. first team.

TOM RITTER was our other end this year, and there were very few plays which he did not stop. Tom is a Senior this year, which means the team is losing one of its best players.

JACK BOYCE was our blocking back this year. Although a Freshman, he was a hard, clean player and an excellent blocker. When he carried the ball, he went somewhere.

OSCAR BYWATERS was the heaviest man on the team. He played tackle and really helped to block up the holes in the middle of our line.

DELMER ROBINSON, better known as Butch, played quarterback and did most of the line bucking. When a few yards were needed, Butch could get them.

RAYMOND BURKE played center this year. He was a good defensive man, and running plays rarely got by him. He still has several years in which to play center.

BILL MILLER was our vest-pocket guard. He was fairly small, but on more than one occasion, he showed that he had the stuff to stick in there and fight.

RALPH FANSLER, Fuzzy, played quarterback during this his Senior year. His clear thinking and fine management when he called signals always brought advantageous results. He played blocking back most of the time.

CARLYLE WHITING was another of this year's six Senior football players. As tackle he usually succeeded in stopping the opposing team.

BOBBY GREEN was an all around backfield man. He played nearly every position in the backfield including quarterback and did some passing and punting.

BOB TAYLOR played tackle and proved to be an excellent man for the position. He made the all C. V. A. L. second team in this his Sophomore year.

LEONARD NEWCOME played guard this year. He was light, but he could be counted on to do his best whenever he entered the game.

JAMES TAYLOR was a good running guard although this was only his second year out for football. He is another one of the Seniors whom the team will miss.

FRANK TAVENNER, better known as Judge, was one of our Senior players who has been out for football for four years. As tackle he put all he had into the game with good spirit and fight.

WLLIAM McINTYRE was the sparkplug of this year's team. Besides being a consistent ground-gainer, Bill did some punting and passing. Although a Junior, he was named on the all C. V. A. L. first team.

The basketball team played sixteen games this year, and although they lost many of them, the boys were never lacking in spirit and fight. Most of their losses were due to a lack of experience which may be accounted for by the fact that this is only the third year in which our team has participated in interscholastic basketball, and the second year in which we have been entered in the C. V. A. L.

For participation in varsity basketball, monograms were awarded to the following players: Irvin Zuckerman, Bill McIntyre, Tom Ritter, Charles Patton, Wayne Whitham, Leon Pope, Jimmie Huyett, Carroll Rowe, Delmer Robinson, and Wilbur Oates.

GIRLS' MONOGRAM CLUB

The Girls' Monogram Club is composed of girls who have participated in enough girls athletics to earn at least 500 points. Each time a girl makes the first team of volleyball, soccer baseball, basketball, or baseball, she earns 100 points. If she only makes the second team she receives 75 points; but if she makes neither of these teams and goes out to more than half the practices held, she receives 50 points. After the total of 500 points have been earned, the girl is awarded a monogram and an athletic certificate. Having received the monogram, each additional 250 points warrants a maroon stripe for her sweater sleeve. Until this year the monogram has been a maroon "H", but recently it has been changed to a white "J-H" with maroon background. This change was made because students were unable to distinguish the emblem of the Club from the general "H" worn by others.

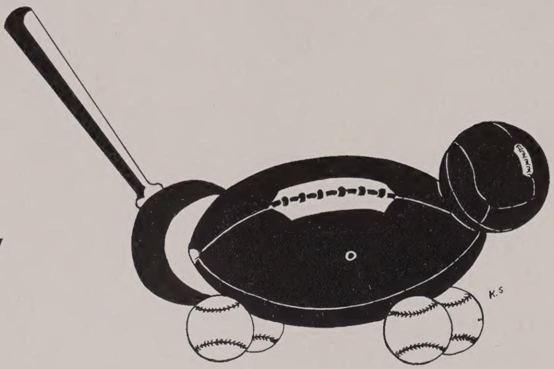
FIGHTIN' FORTY'S LINE - A - DAY



SEPTEMBER 7—Hi Ho, everybody. This is your small but powerful reporter, "Fightin' Forty". They tell me I'm to keep an eye on you this year. I saw only one thing at Handley today, Mr. Browning's mustache. Hitler in our midst, I swear. Anyway his Angels have already paid their G. O. dues, so the Brats have lost their title.

11—Midnight snacks were served to those poor creatures, standing in line at the book store.

12—We had our first Senior meeting, with the same officers to lead us astray and two new sponsors to direct us, Miss Larrick and Mr. Browning.

13—Guess which? The Angels gave the first assembly program, exhibiting their musical talent. Is zat music?

18—Mrs. Solenberger's girls are the first girls' group to pay up 100% G. O. dues. That's better!

22—Such creatures as roamed the halls today! They say they're the new Boosters being initiated. Someone even wore a pair of boy's pants wrong side out!

25—Executive Council had its first meeting with me, little Fightin' Forty a backbencher, while Bob Bridgers hammered for order.

26—Lunched with Mr. Browning in the boiler room. He introduced me to the school cat, but she's pretty dull—no school spirit at all!

30—I'm so excited! It's the first football game with a 15-0 victory over Berkeley Springs. My little brother, "Comin' Forty-One", certainly did help those Juniors who were trotting hot-dogs and pop around the stands. It's a lota baloney! What's a lota baloney? Those Junior hot dogs. Sorry!

OCTOBER 4—Sat with Mrs. Solenberger's girls in assembly while the Honor Court was sworn in. When the whole student body voted for the adoption of the amendments to the Constitution, I barked jus' as loud as I could.

5—A new junior high school magazine made its appearance today, The Maroon and White Quill. Looks interesting. At the first soccer game the Shamrocks won. Farley Massey had brought the lucky buckeye and it worked, too, making the score 19-17.

6—Played the Deaf and Dumb School from Romney and beat them 32-0. I tried to use my tail to wag off a message to their captain after the game, but Mr. Ochs threw me out. Guess he thought I was telling a dirty joke.

11—Second girls soccer game. Shamrocks' buckeye did it again.

13—A sad day. Harrisonburg beat us for the first time in ages. All those girl cheer leaders must have rattled our boys.

17—I listened in on the Handlian staff's first big meeting at Miss Larrick's. Some-how I missed the point of that big book they were all yelling over. What was that Wasiel said about some lady last night?

21—Billwee McIntyre ran 95 yards on the kickoff of the third quarter to score the touchdown for Handley. Allegany got the other 19 points!

30—The Senior Hallowe'en costume party was swell. You should have seen Mrs. Peery dressed as Mrs. Martin Johnson. I had to take a back seat—just a wallflower, I guess. No costume—and legs too short to jitterbug! Ah me! I did like seeing Hitler and Mussolini in the F. F. A. skit. I was sure I saw Mr. Ochs at the game, but there at the end of the gym was a tombstone engraved, "Here lies Hippohead". Too bad, and we were just beginning to get along.

31—By nine A. M. the gym was as clean as a new pin, and am I exhausted! I hear a library club has really been organized —charter and everything.

NOVEMBER 1—Hershey bars, popsicles! What a mess until the Junior and Senior boys cleaned the campus. I ran my poor legs off, but it was worth it.

6—The girls elected basketball captains. Guess I'll be detained after school to see these females play.

9—Now it's the F. F. A.—They've decided to have a basketball team. Not half so interesting???

10—These F. F. A. boys are overdoing it when their president breaks the girl's collar bone!

11—What a game! We beat Charles Town 13-12. I just about wagged my tail off putting that extra point over.

13—Those Freshman want to elect officers already. It'll seem funny having a "Comin' Forty-Four" following me around.

14—It's Book Week so vote for your favorite book. Mine is the 1940 Handlian.

17—This is the sorta school day I enjoy. Got excused at 11 o'clock for the Fredericksburg game. No wonder the boys want basketball season to start. The women over there! Great day!

22—Assembly was a lota hooey, but the man called it magic. I may be a dog but I'm no sucker! We brought fruits and canned goods for the hospital today so they can feast tomorrow. Not even rain could stop the school rally. Bridgers took over, calling on the coaches and Seniors of the squad—all but me!

23—Today's "Franksgiving" — next Thursday should be Thanksgiving. All the alums joined us at the Martinsburg game and we won.

DECEMBER 1—The Junior play was grand—especially Duell under the sofa. Rowe was made football captain at their banquet tonight.

4—Mr. Ochs starred at the girls basketball game working the gadgets on the new electric score board. No Junior Evening Star tonight, and I'm mad.

5—It's alright. The Booster "Star" came out tonight, and I feel better.

6—Do I feel small after seeing Mr. Griffin punt a football, like they do in Australia. That boomerang about amputated my tail, too.

12—Am I relieved! My senior picture did get to Nina on time.

15—The Junior Christmas party tonight was marvelous. Everybody was there—even Santa Claus (Cassanova Green). And what a Santa Claus with his bay window at his knees! Did you see the triplets with identical evening gowns: Dot, Deedie, and Burgess? And Mr. Maddex rushing Bickers, while Ben Dutton rushed Mrs. Maddex? It's the Christmas spirit!!

20—The last day of school in 1939. The Christmas stockings and baskets are bigger than ever! Hope Santa Claus thinks I've been a good doggie!

JANUARY 3—Whoo! Did I get a surprise when I came to school this morning and found a paint gang in the gym and play court. Donal Hartman said they were going to paint the ceilings blue and dangle stars from the rafters, but I'm not sure!

8—As fast as it snows, Mr. Funk has to shovel the roof to keep us from drowning under these leaky roofs.

10—Maybe I am just a dog, but I believe I'd have done better as Rip Van Winkle than that man in assembly!

15—Whee! Munich is over. No more Hitler-tache. Just Mr. Browning!

16—What happened to our assembly musician? Nobody knows! I wanted to substitute, but Mr. Quarles said, "Wait a little longer, Fightin' Forty." I couldn't try out for the Senior Play. No dogs wanted. We won a basketball game! At Staunton. With 5 seconds to play someone stepped on my tail. "Yap!" and Patton made a basket!

18—Christmas is here again. Mr. Maddex has the team equipped with candy cane sox!

19—Mr. T. R. Cather spoke to us in assembly on Lee. My Maury poem must not have gone over so well because I didn't even win third prize. Catherine Beattie and Jackie Womack won instead.

24—No exam today so Mr. Funk let me ride the snow plow as he cleaned off the sidewalks.

26—"Oh, I wish I could shimmy like my sister Kate
She can shimmy like the jelly on a plate—"

I really should be sad because we lost another game tonight—50-17, but I can't be sad with a song like that to sing. Oh, Little Joe, do you let them carry on like that on every bus trip?

29—A new Senior boy. Is it really true that he is Mr. Quarles' step-great-nephew?

30—The Handlian sales are bound to double after those super-powerful talks made in assembly. In one scene, Steve got thrown into the sound-effect box with all the glass and tomato cans. We boys always get tossed about.

FEBRUARY 2—Another C. V. A. L. game tonight—Fort Hill. I'm depressed about the scores, but I'm hopeful still.

5—If Bridgers had been given out pedigrees instead of literary certificates, I might have gotten something in assembly.

7—I'm still panting pretty hard from listening to that man talk so fast about his airplane pictures in assembly.

9—Had a real Rip Van Winkle today—full length and right from Broadway!

14—Glad I'm not a telegraph boy peddling Valentine telegrams up to school. Poor Hamman! The wrong source!!

16—Where were the Senior Scouts and their red paper hats? I thought they'd jinxed us Tuesday, but I guess not cause we lost this basketball game, too.

20—Pictures, takes, and re-takes and still no pictures. Poor photographers! no wonder they kicked me out of the Handlian office (?).

21—Such strength, such power! That's me, Fightin' Forty, after having seen the University Tumbling Team.

22—"I cannot tell a lie," a mighty short dress sat on the stage during assembly program.

27—Who said, "Saturday the Handlian goes to press and the staff goes to Staunton"?

MARCH 1—We boys got a real break at the Senior Leap Year Dance. Now the girls are broke. Dot Hawthorne even took her car. And me, too!

2—I'm ready for the hospital and the oxygen tent. We took the Handlian to press today!

8—Mr. Coe loaned me his car to go to town, but it went right to the Nurses Home instead. Wonder why?

14—Beattie finally made me pay for my commencement invitations today. She swears I'll get two graduation presents for every one.

15—"Life Begins at Sixteen", OUR play! Wasn't "Fattie" cute? And such feeling behind those romantic scenes.

21—Easter vacation begins tomorrow. I hear Burgess and Cather are planning to roll Easter eggs at the White House Monday. Wow!

27—The Boosters really did reveal the private lives of some of our Seniors in their assembly program today.

APRIL 5—"Comin' Forty-One" and I saw the faculty play tonight, "Ladies of the Jury". Mr. Sipe and the women! He just doesn't know how to handle them.

8—"Snag" seems to think it wouldn't pay me to go out for track, but I can help keep the score at the R. M. A. meet tomorrow.

12—All our prodigies went down to Fredericksburg for the State Literary Contest. Even me!!

15—Glad I'm not a track star like Bobby Green especially today at M. M. A. They back you up with your feet almost under the wall for the start of the race. Horrors!

17—Gee! Is my face red? I got all mixed today when I saw that man standing in the hall glaring at me. I just glared back, then barked and barked to run him off. Pretty soon, Mr. Quarles grabbed me by the tail and threw me out for disorderly conduct. John Knight set me straight. It was just a statue. Am I disgraced??

20—Girls in shorts, boys in trunks. Apple Blossom and track meets. Handley held the Invitation Meet this afternoon with "Snuffy", "Butch", and Wayne, all outshining their rivals. Why can't I be a hero, too?

MAY 1—Can't be long now 'cause we had dress rehearsal today.

2-3—Apple Blossom Time! Flags, Arabians, ballet dancers—everything running through the halls. Where was I? Stroking Mrs. Barr's brow as each festival day passed by—a success!!

4—Imagine having a big affair like the Maryland Interscholastic Meet the day after the Apple Blossom! Some poor boys had to miss the dances out at the Apple Shed. But not I! Such princesses! And they're all gone today.

8—Handlians are out! Autographs and more autographs!!

18—Lovely ladies in shorts practicing for baseball and the C. V. A. L. meet going on all at once. This is the last meet and I haven't gotten any recognition yet. Why, they even let "Comin' Forty-One" raise the bar on the high-jump.

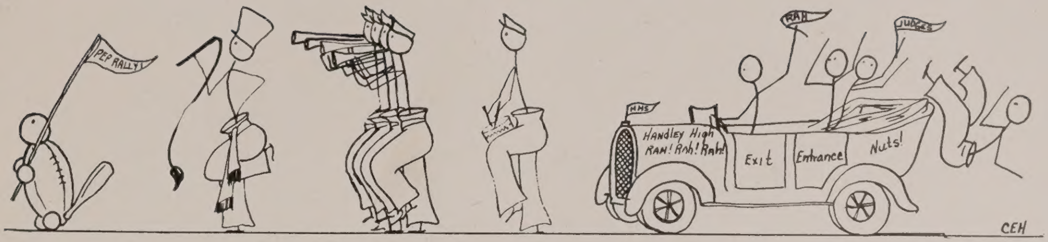
27—Exams again and the last set I'll ever take at dear old Handley. Don't laugh cause that's the way you'll feel next year, "Comin' Forty-One".

JUNE 2—Baccalaureate service tonight made me realize the end is really near. It was getting serious until my mortar board fell off.

5—Junior-Senior Prom was wonderful. I jitterbugged like mad to try to forget this was almost my last dance at Handley.

6—My speech at the banquet went over big. Gee! its swell to be a Senior even if it is sorta tearful now.

7—The last round up. To the cemetery in the morning and to commencement tonight. To think little Fightin'-Forty got a diploma too! Now where's that paint bucket? We'll paint the town red!



ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertising, pep meetings, and the moral support and encouragement of the student body are imperative to the success of every team. So to those who have so kindly cooperated with us, this year and in the past, we wish to extend our sincere thanks. We deeply appreciate their generosity.

In order to show our sincere appreciation to old friends, we publish this Honor Roll of those whose continued support has enabled us to publish our yearbook in its present form.
